

Interested in a career in Mergers & Acquisitions?

FBM Mahler is looking for top talent with strong analytical and social skills and the ambition to work in a highly demanding environment!

FBM Mahler offers the full range of mergers & acquisitions advisory services, including financial and strategic advice to realize transactions. We are one of the leading independent advisory houses in the Netherlands and we operate primarily in the mid market. We have a strong foothold in the Dutch M&A market and we advise internationally as well as locally through the transactions that we run on behalf of both strategic and financial parties. Our deeply rooted corporate finance knowledge is evidenced by the broad range of more than 100 transactions that we have executed, across multiple economic cycles.

We are currently seeking an excellent student in the final year of an economic or financial master degree to complete an internship with our team of advisors.

Your tasks will include amongst others

- Research and analysis of key markets and sourcing of potential M&A cases
- Research of key market players and industry dynamics
- Preparation of client presentations
- Participation in our valuation and financial services

Our expectations

We expect you to be a top student having done extracurricular activities and being close to completing your master's studies. Through your studies and relevant student work/internships you have shown your ability to source and analyze information. You wish to develop your skills within corporate finance and M&A, and are an experienced user of Microsoft Office, especially Excel and PowerPoint. You are thorough and independent and enjoy busy and long work days. You are fluent in spoken and written English. Prior experience in Corporate Finance is not required.

We offer

We are offering a four months paid internship, where you will join our experienced team to assist on our client cases. You will have the opportunity to influence your job and will be an important part of a dynamic and ambitious team. Our office is located in World Trade Centre in Amsterdam.
